Letters To SR "Urge To Get "Killer 80" On Top Priorities List

At an early morning meeting of the Canal Hazards Safety Committee a motion was made to send at least one member to the Thursday morning meeting of the State Road Department's tentative examination of the motion unanimously passed.

In discussion after motion was passed, Kenneth Mock, Pahokee, suggested that the group must have some figure to ask for rather than the total amount, such as primary construction monies. These funds would include preliminary studies and securing of right-of-way, said Mock.

A figure of $187,000 was given by Mock, who had made the estimate originally for presentation to a meeting of the State Road Department Priorities Committee in April.

Doug Jones, newly elected state vice president of the Florida Jaycees said that the local chapter would adopt a resolution which would be accepted by district chapters from Jupiter to Lake Worth and west to Clewiston.

"Once the resolution is accepted by the district," said Jones, "we would circulate it from coast-to-coast among the Jaycees and all civic and religious groups for acceptance." Jones went on to say that the Jaycees would then secure billboard space to advertise the number of deaths that have occurred on this highway as well as use pictures of accidents.

A letter thanking the media for past support and asking for further coverage or a news feature was brought before the group and passed.

County Commissioner E. W. "Bud" Weaver urged the group to continue their letters to the State Road Department.

"Our aim is to flood the State Road Department office in Tallahassee with letters to indicate strong public interest in this problem," Weaver said.

Editor's Note: The State Road Department will convene its meeting to examine the July 1 budget before our readers can read with letters. However, the Board will meet again in June to form up the budget before adopting it, so that a constant stream of letters could weight the scales in our favor.

"We must make state and national highway officials realize that SR-80 is, indeed, the most dangerous highway in America. Statistics prove it. If we can't get '80' four-laned or, better yet, replaced, there are going to be many more horrible deaths on this road," he declared.

Weaver suggested the following letter be written to Jay Brown, State Road Commissioner, Tallahassee, Florida:

State Road 80 in Palm Beach, Hendry and Lee Counties is a "killer highway". It is being four-laned or replaced. Something must be done on more and more people will die on this treacherous road. Please recognize that SR-80 is the nation's number one highway killer. Facts prove it. Please do something! You must act now!

Woman's Club Promotes Anti-Crime Project With Sale Of "Vigilantes"

Chief Charles Goodlett gives his blessing to the "Vigilante." Mrs. Harold Zump, center, demonstrates the loudness of the whistle as Mrs. Guy Wood looks on.

"The Vigilantes are coming" may well be the word from the Belle Glade Woman's Club this week as the club began an anti-crime program. The "Vigilantes" is a combination whistle, flashlight and key ring which will go on sale this week for $1.00, according to club president Mrs. Guy D. Wood.

In charge of sales is Mrs. Harold Zump, who said she could be prevailed upon to sell the "Vigilantes" for $1.00 each. The first National Bank, Belle Glade Federal Savings and Loan Association or Sullivan's Pharmacy.

The whistles are not toys and should not be given to children as such. The whistling sound is a shrill one, easily recognized as a call for help in time of emergency.

Owners of "Vigilantes" are urged to carry them — not drop them into the bottom of purses.

And residents are urged to answer the shrill, piercing call by turning on lights; notifying police of trouble immediately; or taking whatever action may be necessary.

THOUGHT OF THE WEEK

THE ONLY SURE THING ABOUT LUCK IS THAT IT WILL CHANGE.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Thurman Sensing

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

As concerned churchmen weigh the moral tragedy of widening violence and lawlessness in American cities, they cannot ignore the role of the National Council of Churches in recent years and months or fail to ask themselves whether the NCC has contributed to the breakdown in public order.

For those citizens who are acquainted with the positions adopted by the NCC in the area of political action, consideration of the subject is almost inevitable. Year by year, the NCC has been moving out of the realm of religious work and into the field of political policy-making and encouragement of direct political action.

This situation has been clearly stated by the editors of Christianity Today in their comments on a recent meeting of the General Board of the NCC in San Diego, Calif.

According to Christianity Today, "the San Diego sessions signaled a full-speed-ahead socio-political-economic drive by the General Board of the NCC to lead many churches to re-evaluate their support of the National Council of Churches."

At the meeting, the NCC adopted a report that called for U.S. trade and cultural exchanges with Red China, recognition of Communist Cuba, acceptance of the brutal Red regime in East Germany, removal of travel restrictions on Soviet citizens in the U.S., admission of Red China to the United Nations and reduction of American forces in the Far East. The communist world certainly could not have asked for a nicer report — from their standpoint.

But a special concern at this time are the actions of the NCC General Board in respect to the domestic scene. For example, the NCC increased support for poverty programs and action groups by Church Women United and gave financial backing to the National Urban Coalition. It called on local churches to provide "funds for local black groups to strategize for the summer" and to support "inclusion of black power and black-nationalist organization in local task groups seeking action and solution to problems."

The General Board also called for observation of political behavior and reporting of any so-called police brutality. Churchmen were further urged by the NCC General Board to form action task groups to move on basic issues in cooperation with the "ghetto" community rather than through "white paternalism" programs.

In short, the General Board recommended a big package of programs that are highly political in content and controversial in character. Arthur S. Fleming, in presidential address to the NCC meeting, frankly stated that "the church should become more and more involved in political action. We're going to push hard on this one."

Though the NCC professes to speak for 40 million Protestants, there is no real evidence that the ordinary churchman believes as the General Board believes. Indeed there is a very strong and insistent grassroots protest in the churches against the increasingly political and "ultra-liberal" nature of the NCC.

In the past, church programs were not regarded as material for public commentary. But the NCC has virtually ceased to be a religious organization in the accepted sense, and instead has become an instrument for political change and re-orientation of public opinion. Thus informed citizens, irrespective of their religious background, feel it entirely proper — indeed necessary — to discuss the political positions adopted by the NCC and distributed around the country in printed and broadcast form.

It is deeply unfortunate that the NCC has taken this political bent, for there is need for cooperation among churches and churchmen in works of charity and in discussion of spiritual questions. But religion and politics do not mix. Certainly the pulpit is not the place for a partisan plea in behalf of specific legislation or controversial public policy. The introduction of the content and spirit of politics into religious life simply drives out the element of genuine spirituality. The first course consisted of small platters of meat balls, green onions, gardeners, quartered hard boiled eggs, pressed meat, olives, canned potatoes and peas and a small roll.

Water is served, if ever, served and many members of the church were buying water in bottles. At this restaurant, American cigarettes were thirty and forty cents a pack.

On the outskirts of Madrid the government is building many low-rent apartment buildings.

It is true that some churchmen in our time believe that it has a duty to be "activists." If activism is confined to good works, to giving a personal example by way of faith and dedication and love, then it always will be welcomed by men of good will. But activism that is defined in political terms and that manifests it by supporting movements and organizations that disrupt a nation of community — that kind of activism is contrary to everything for which religion is supposed to stand.

And when the NCC turns activist, in giving money and moral support to black power and black nationalist groups, it is contributing to the breakdown of peace and good will in the country. It is helping coils on the fires of unrest and bitterness.

Thus the NCC, by its political involvement, is rejecting a ministry of reconciliation and is lending support to an angry confrontation in the streets that can only bring internal disaster to our free society based on the rule of law.

Editors' Notes: Because of space limitations the Herald doesn't normally print releases from politicians during an election year, there are just too many. However, we thought this short editorial was worthy of sharing with our readers.

GUARANTEED ANNUAL INCOME

by Congressman Edward J. Gurney (R-Fla.)

Nobody likes to be poor. The urge better one's condition led to the founding of our great nation. America was the land of opportunity where, by hard work and thrift, anyone could free himself from oppression. Our nation is living proof that America is a land where any individual can defeat poverty.

But now comes a new proposal, a demand that "freedom from poverty" should be a governmental and social responsibility, to take from the haves and give to the have nots.

Even more startling than the demand for a guaranteed annual income between $3,000 and $4,000 is the fact that this proposal is now under serious consideration by many in government.

A few years ago, this seemed inconceivable to many, but it's now closer to reality than you think.

One embarked, where does it lead?

The demands for more and more will increase with each session of Congress, and there will be no ending to the procession.

It is one thing to help and assist the aged and ill, but quite another to pay people for not working.

Creating jobs, producing better housing and better educational opportunities for the young, and a better business and government is a far better path to follow than the road toward more socialism.

As we come out of our homes, we find a beautiful sight — red, yellow and blue.

There were beds of tulips in bloom in all the public squares. The first course consisted of small platters of meat balls, green onions, gardeners, quartered hard boiled eggs, pressed meat, olives, canned potatoes and peas and a small roll.

Water is served, if ever, served and many members of the church were buying water in bottles. At this restaurant, American cigarettes were thirty and forty cents a pack.

Scenes of Madrid, Spain

Snow-capped Mountains and Goya's Paintings

As we left Granada for Madrid, the snow-capped mountains seemed very close. It was a picturesque sight to see the clouds over the snow.

Soon we came to Jaen, the city that is the center of the olive industry in Spain. We saw a lot of re-forestation, which is a national project. There were a number of fields of black goats, and every time I saw any I remembered I had eaten goat meat for lunch once.

We stopped in Manzanares for lunch and were given a printed menu — assorted hors d'oeuvre, spinach omelet, roast veal with vegetables and fruit salad. The first course consisted of small platters of meat balls, green onions, gardeners, quartered hard boiled eggs, pressed meat, olives, canned potatoes and peas and a small roll.

to enter our bus on our first morning here, traffic had stopped because the Royal Guard, on horseback, were going to the Royal Palace. There were one-hundred and forty horses and soldiers.

The uniform of a bright blue trimmed in red. Each soldier had on a flowing cape and a metal hat much like the former German helmets. The horses and the horses are decorated with gold and silver. This was all because a visiting dignitary was in town. He was never announced to the public before-hand.

The University of Madrid covers many acres and there are many new buildings. It has a capacity of forty-thousand students. It is situated on high ground overlooking a park. There is an aluminum statue of a man on horseback leaning against a sword.

The guide told us that the Spanish people did not like the new supermarkets, because they of the body and all of his faces are very young. Religion was his favorite subject and his picture, Christ Carrying the Cross is outstanding. The Holy Trinity and the Adoration of the Shepherds were very famous. Little is actually known about El Greco's life as he was not famous until late in life. He was born on the Island of Crete in 1540 and spent many years in Venice. After he came to Toledo, he became famous.

I enjoyed the pictures by Goya especially, because the people looked so lifelike. The Voice Harvest, Dance and the Shower of Gold and the Char-IV Family were outstanding. There are over a dozen people in the last painting and the detail given to the suits, dresses, lace and jewels is wonderful.

Our attention was called to his two most famous pictures, the Maja Nude and the Maja Clothed, thought by many to have been posed by the Duchess of Alba.

The Milkmaid of Bordeaux is supposed to be the last painting. Goya at the age of eighteen could not read or write, but used to draw pictures on the outside of his home. One day a painter happened to come by and see these and started training Goya. He has nineteen pictures in the Prado.

Velasquez was a Royal Artist and his people were charged with the job of painting the king. Philip IV on horseback is an example. The Maids of Honor is a royal family picture and the dog in the foreground seems alive. His children's pictures are delightful and Price of Austria is a very interesting piece of a boy dressed in hunting with a lace collar, gloves and cap with a gun in his hand and a big dog at his feet.

Probably the most noted of his pictures is the Infanta Margarita of Austria, afterwards Empress. He painted her size times at different ages. In this picture she was about nine years old and is formally dressed with immense hoop skirts, a large handkerchief, diamonds, red earrings and a red scarf in her hair.

We had lunch in the basement of the Prado, which was crowded with tourists after a few hours in the Prado one is in a state of mental confusion.

We had a special guide for this tour and while he spoke English, I had to stand in front of him and look at him to be able to understand him. He had 33 people to guide and some of them were slower than I. I often missed a few of what he said when I was at the end of the line.

Adding to the confusion were the countless other groups also going through the museum. It was the only one taking notes. This was quite difficult at times, especially while riding in a bus or in a dark room in a museum.

Many people were walking alone with a guidebook. It is such a huge building. It would be easy to get lost.

I have covered only a few of the painters who happened to appeal to me. There were many paintings by Murillo, Raphael and Rubens that were wonderful and very famous. I am sure I missed seeing many canvases as there were pictures on both sides of the rooms. (Note: It took me TWO hours to write one of these pages!)

Uncle Dan from Doolie Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

Ed Doolittle came to the session at the country store Saturday night loaded with pictures he had cut out of the newspapers. Ed said he wanted to explain to the fellows why we ain't understood in other countries. He claim it's on account of we speak only in the code language.

For instance, he had this piece where the State Department said we wanted to "stabilize the nuclear relationship." He said he worked on this one a whole day and final decided this means if we get stabilized we can blow them countries up at the same time they was blowing us up. And he was of the opinion we was getting a lot of code language from the Pentagon boys, said he could recollect when they hung a Viet Cong in a tree it was reported they had used the "aerial suspension dynamics" method. And he told the fellows we had all saw here a couple months ago where "it became necessary to capture the towns in order to save it."

But the prize piece Ed hung to the store was from the Department of Commerce and he give it to me to pass along to you Mister Editor. This piece was one he had sent out to all the Commerce offices and said "optimism managing of grant applications imperativizes receipt of Forms 503 in close association with the application forms themselves. Grantees should seek to insure that completed Forms 503 accompany the applications rather than arrive as discrete and perhaps tardy components. Otherwise, the process loses its homogenous ambience."

The column writer that was printing the piece said he had it figured out that the Commerce folks was trying to say for people to send in Form 503 when they was applying for loans.

Zeke Grubb was agreed with Ed, said Government instructions these days was like the Bible. They was so many ways to figure the instructions that it was worse than there was so many ways of doing things right and wrong. Zeke allowed he know they was hundreds of groups that use the Bible for a guide, and just about everybody reads the instructions different.

Hook Huggins said this whole mess coming out of Washington made him recollect that time where the feller "jumped on his horse and rode off in all directions."

All the fellows was general agreed that Ed had proved his point and we can't expect other nations to understand us when we can't understand nothing coming out of Washington.

I ain't short if I was living in the right country or state, or even in the right house.

Yours truly,

Uncle Dan

GOD'S WORD

Many times, by teaching and example, Jesus brought forth to his disciples and followers the importance of finding faith and hope in the words of God. In this modern world we live in, the disciples of Jesus must still search for happiness. Neither wealth nor power can insure us against some of the common ailments. One cannot buy a guarantee of health. The right to live to be a hundred is something that is not for sale.

We cannot buy the tomorrow we want. What that day brings depends upon many things — our own individual efforts, the events that take place around us, the people with whom we associate.

But, one thing is sure, our lives depend upon the love we are infused, if we have the strength and the faith that may be found in the words of God.

SOBRE LA INSPECCION DE CARROS

Segun declaraciones sobre preguntas que se han hecho sobre las próximas inspecciones de autos, piensan los oficiales que las "luces" del frente son sus mayores problemas.

Que puedan pasar la inspección total, es mejor tratar de tener su vehículo en la mejor forma posible, antes de traerlo a la estación de inspección.

Todo lo que se mueva, que posea placas de licencias, debe ser inspeccionado. No los móviles homes estacionados, pero si los que cogen carretera.

Hay como 202,000 vehículos con licencia registrados en el Condado de Palm Beach. Comenzará la inspección el 3 de Junio.

Ajantar hay que entregar al inspector $1.75 por los servicios, y el recibo de la chapa. Entonces el día que pruebe sus luces de delante, adentro, y limpia parabrisas. Después probarán los frenos. Su freno de emergencia también debe estar en operación. Inspeccionarán también las luces del freno. Un futuro que se pueda oír a 200 pies.

Las gomas deben estar en buen estado, no debe tener ni chubones, ni bultos, ni nudos. Entonces viene el chequeo del frenito, que por el momento no se levanta a cabo, hasta que se construyan estaciones de inspección permanentes. Entonces chequearán si están muy sueltas las coyunturas o uniones de los collares del timón y de las ruedas.

El último requerimiento será que un inspector le pague su certificado de inspección en la parábasis a la izquierda.

Si su carro necesita re-inspección para poder pasar el examen, deberá pagar de nuevo $1.75 en otra estación de re-inspección, cinco días más tarde.

Para los residentes del área del Glades, la estación provisional para la inspección de autos se halla al fondo del parking area del County Building que quedó en la carretera US 441 entre Belle Glade y Pahokee.

En los Estatutos de la Florida se dice que ninguna persona puede vender ningún vehículo de motor usado que no lleve pegado el certificado vigente de inspección aprobada.

LA ZAFRA EN PUERTO RICO

La zafra 1968-69 en Puerto Rico ha sido la peor de su historia. Se espera producir solamente 660,000 toneladas cortas de azúcar de una cuota autorizada de 1,170,000 toneladas. Este déficit representa una pérdida de $75 millones de pesos para la economía de la isla.

En problemático que el Congreso de los Estados Unidos continúe asignando a Puerto Rico cuotas de mas de un millón de toneladas. Los productores domésticos de Florida y Louisiana y algunos áreas extranjeras como la República Dominicana están presionando fuertemente por una parte de la cuota de Puerto Rico.

A pesar del desastre de la zafra de este año, se estima que no se trata de una industria en peligro de muerte. Se considera que Puerto Rico entra en una nueva etapa en que se estabilizará su producción con solo una decena de ingenios y una producción anual de 725,000 toneladas.

Este año por primera vez se utilizaron en Puerto Rico cortadores de caña mecánicas que reducen el costo de labor.

COSECHERAS MECANICAS LISTAS PARA LA FLORIDA.

La Cia. J. L. Engineering, de Louisiana, ha anunciado el desarrollo de cosechadoras combinadas, aptas para cortar y cargar como 60 toneladas de caña de azúcar por hora. Trabajando cooperativamente con los cosecheros de la Florida, esta firma conduce sus programas de desarrollo para las condiciones floridianas.

Una de estas unidades corta y carga dos tercios de caña simultáneamente a razón de 60 toneladas por hora. Especialmente apropiada para caña acostada.

La otra unidad es un nuevo modelo de cosechadora de ruedas, que corta y carga 40 toneladas de caña por hora, trabajando un solo surco de caña en cada paso. Es una máquina ideal para condiciones adversas, particularmente en caña acostada.

En Puerto Rico se probó una de estas cosechadoras en Mayo 1967, y fue comprada la maquinaria, ordenando tres más. El costo de la caña cortada a mano se calcula a $2.25 por tonelada, y calculan que con la cosechadora mecánica es $1 o $1.25.

DE LA CIUDAD DEL VATICANO — El Santo Padre Paulo VI plates asistir al Congreso Eucarístico Internacional No. 19, en Bogotá, Colombia, del 19 al 26 de Agosto, 1968, y a un millón de los Obispos Latino Americanos en Colombia. Este viaje tendrá una duración de dos o tres días. Será su sexto viaje al extranjero y será la primera vez que Latino América sea visitada por un Papa.

A Day Of Infamy?

No Just Stop Day

Friday, May 16 started out like any other school day at Belle Glade High School. Every thing seemed normal until the first Senior arrived on Campus. It was Ken Wolty dressed in his father's polka-dot underwear, love beads, and a tattoo in the center of his torso. And then a few more weird ones arrived on the scene. They were Jorge Campa, turned Mexican and Molly Thomas, looking very much like a hippie. Ken Wolty hasn't gone mad, they haven't decided to let these students go wild and roam the halls freely. It was just "Stop Day," a day set aside each year when the Seniors can come to school dressed in their "true identity."

Friday, May 16, will go down in history as a day of infamy. . . well maybe not so dramatic, maybe just "Senior Stop Day," 1968.

Big Mouth

Ray E., what's this we hear about you being found with a mustache on your mouth at the beach?

Coordination plus was demonstrated again as usual by Mary Helen F. at the prom. How did your picture turn out anyway?

Margaret T., it looked like you were taking family pictures at the Prom, how about it?

Juniors, congratulations on a great Prom.

Barbara D., Bruce M., and Henry R. glad to know you all finally made it to the banquet! Congratulations Margaret C. for making it down the steps this year without a faltering step!

Brenda, Susan and Barbara are really getting sentimental on us, having their picture made together.

Boy, Pam, you sure turned out at the banquet. Could you come home from the beach with burns on the side of your face?

ELECTRIC IRRIGATION DOES IT BEST

Supplying cropland and citrus groves with water is simple with an electric-pumped irrigation system. It's a profit-making production tool. Assures higher-level, higher-quality yields. Conserves water, too. You sprinkle just the amount you need, where and when needed.

Electric motors for year-after-year of dependable performance will give you peace of mind. Can be controlled by time-clocks or float-switches to make irrigation automatic—and economical.

RAMPAGE INTERVIEWS MR. RASCO Where Has All The Freedom Gone?

By Barbara Williams
Is America becoming so free that we no longer have many of our basic freedoms? The freedom to protest has become so widespread that we now need police to protect us against protesters. And the police are so bound by laws that they can't protect us against criminals for fear of being charged with crimes themselves.

We as people are misusing our freedoms until we are slowly but surely losing them all. The dissenters who are protesting against our country fail to see that if they lived anywhere else in the world they would be imprisoned, if not executed, for speaking against the government. It is the same government that allows them to protest what they are protesting against.

It has been asked if we, as Americans, have earned our freedom. This question can only be answered by each individual. Have those young men who speak against our government really earned the right? Have they done enough for their country and government to deserve this freedom?

Or do they take it for granted that since they are Americans they have just as much right as those who have fought in wars to use of freedom as we will soon see it disappear.

Just like everything else in life freedom is something you must work for. It is a precious thing and one that needs careful handling. If we, as the people of this great "free" country do not begin to examine ourselves and our use of freedom we will soon see it disappear.

On The Lighter Side
"What's new around you house?" asked a lady of a small boy. "I don't know," he replied. "They tell everything."

After the young lady ordered the most expensive dish on the menu, the waiter looked at her and asked: "What do you wish, Sir?" "I only wish," he mumbled, "that I hadn't brought her."

"Do you have an opening for a printer?" asked the brah young applicant. "Yes. And don't slam it on the way out."

MR. RASCO: Business Education is a local course. I believe if you go to Belle Glade High School and take all our business courses you don't need to go to a business school. I don't think the business schools have anything more to offer to someone who has taken our business course. Next year our business department will be expanding and we will have more and better courses.

MR. RASCO: There is more to teach. We use a lot more devices, and tapes in Business Courses. We use a lot more machinery as a rule. Especially at Belle Glade High School. In four years it's really grown. The basic teaching principles change with every course and you have to up date your teaching principles. We hope to see a change in typing next year.

RAMPAGE: What is the possible change in typing next year?

MR. RASCO: Typing. RAMPAGE: Have you ever had a type short-hand?

MR. RASCO: Yes, goh!—The first year I was here I had one, the next year I had two. I expect a few. It is a very lucrative course, because there is a great demand for male secretaries.

RAMPAGE: We've always heard told shorthand would help in taking notes in college. What is your opinion?

MR. RASCO: It's bound to help in college if you know shorthand well. . . But as it takes more time to learn it than to learn to type, it's not a good idea.

Athletic Banquet Held

On May 20, 1968, the members of the football, basketball, track, and baseball team along with the athletic directors held their annual Athletic Banquet in the Lake Shore Cafeteria at 8 p.m.

The purpose of the banquet was to give special notice to our athletes for their unselfish sportsmanship and togetherness as a team during the various sports season's during the school term.

The program was very enlightening with our well to do Dean of Boys, Charles E. Todd, as Toastmaster. After the banquet, the members of the football coaches, John Denon, along with our Dean of Girls, Effie Greer, expressed the reason for our being there.

Our speaker for the evening was introduced by Willie J. Irvin, Athletic Director, and speaker Charles Otterson, Prep Sports Editor of the Palm Beach Post — West Palm Beach, brought us a very interesting message about "What Makes An Athlete."

We then journeyed into the presentation of awards for the young men of sports at Lake Shore who had exhibited good sportsmanship and skill as a player throughout the year. Players receiving presentations were as follows:

Outstanding Achievement — Charles Walker

Who's Who in High School Sports — Charles Walker

Player of the Week — James Benjamin, Ernest Clark, Charles Walker, Odette Harrison, Jerry Ford, James Ford, Jr., and Willie Marshall.

Team Letter Awards — Team Letter Awards — Track — Alton Jones, Bruce Williams, Johnny Lusane, Eddie Clayton, Johnny Mack, Wintall Coleman, Billy Burton, Johnny Anderson, and James

"Young Leaders"

Eight 1968 graduating students of Lake Shore High School have been nominated for inclusion in the 1968 edition of YOUNG LEADERS OF AMERICA.

Vivian L. Berry, Gloria Butts, Catherine Lowe, Johnnie L. Lusane, Curtis L. Pierce, Daisy D. McCoy, Mary E. Nelson, and Helen Ray were chosen because they have used their talents, energy, and ability and whose past achievements have contributed to their school and community.

Campus Highlights

The long awaited moment has finally arrived. The Annual Jr-Sr Promenade. The Promenade will be held on May 24, in Lake Shore Gymnasium at 9:00 p.m. The title of this year's affair is "Oriental Garden." The dress is formal or semiformal. Hey boys — Don't Forget the Corsage!

On May 16 the student council held its Annual Student Assistance Day. The day was designated for members of the council and members of the Senior Class to have the daily task of the teachers and administrative staff for one day. Football Spring Training ends May 1968. I hope the fellows are ready for this fall.

Lake Shore is deeply grieved over the death of three members of its family, Mrs. Navelle Lee, a faculty member, her daughter Debra Lee, a member of the seventh grade, and Leslie Agusta Hall, a member of the senior class. Campus Highlights wishes to express its deepest condolence to the families. We have lost three great and loyal friends.

—Vivian Berry

Freshman Ball is Smashing Success!

Well ladies we see you're trying hard to help make your prom an even bigger success than last years' one. God Luck. You'll need it.

On Friday, May 17, 1968, the Freshman Class of Lake Shore Junior-Senior High School had a night of colored lights and an evening of fun at their Annual Freshman Ball in the Lake Shore Cafeteria.

As described by Clevon McCrae, a member of the class: It was a magnificent and breath-taking affair, with all the beautiful gowns to say nothing of the young ladies, the colored lights and the swing ing balloons, and the fantastic music of the Lake Shore. The music for the evening was provided by a real live band, Joe Bell and the Staccato led by Mr. Pyfom.

The Freshman Class would like to extend their thanks to their class sponsors, Mrs. R. Murray, Miss B. Alexander, Miss A. Bankhead, Mrs. McCrae and Mr. Garrett, who helped to make the affair a grand success.

Knight - M Heart Ass

Mrs. Sam N. Knight, who has served three times as chairman of the Glades Heart Ball, was honored by the Heart Association of Palm Beach County during its annual awards banquet, Saturday in the Towers in Palm Beach.

Jos. B. Shearouse, outgoing president, presented a gold heartshaped pin to Mrs. Knight as a "special token of our appreciation and affection."

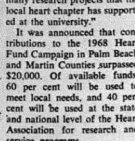

State Sen. Jerry Thomas was named a life member of the board of directors, along with being cited by the association with its highest award, the Distinguished Achievement Medal.

Thomas, a six-year volunteer of the Heart Association, has served as campaign chairman, president and chairman of the board.

E. B. McDaniel, chairman of the commerce and industry drive for the Heart Fund in Belle Glade, will be one of five men in the county selected for the leadership recognition award.

A surprise award was given to the chapter by the Cardiology Department of the University of Florida College of Medicine. Dr. Gerold Schiebeler of Gainesville presented the award in "recognition of the many research projects that the local heart chapter has supported at the university."

It was announced that contributions to the 1968 Heart Fund Campaign in Palm Beach and Martin Counties surpassed $20,000. Of available funds, 60 per cent will be used to meet local needs, and 40 per cent will be used at the state and national level of the Heart Association for research and service programs.
